Navigating resource management at the district level

This is the first webinar of a two-part series on health financing and the DHS. This introductory engagement considers resource management at district level with a particular focus on the financial management capabilities needed in the DHS. The aims of the webinar are to: consider the individual, team and system capabilities required to enable district management teams to take quality financial and budgeting decisions; and to consider what lessons current experience offers for future system development.

The second webinar in this series will focus on resource allocation for equity at district level.
